The First Step to Better Health

STEPS TO A HEALTHIER YOU!

TEST	EXPLANATION	RECOMMENDATIONS	RESOURCES
BMI	BMI (Body Mass Index) is a tool that can help determine a healthy weight based on an individual's height.	Balanced physical activity and nutrition will help keep your BMI in check. 150 minutes of exercise each week is suggested, as well as nutrition changes that might include eating more fruits, vegetables, whole grains and low- or no-fat dairy products. Keep in mind that pursuing weight loss in a healthy way is important and looks different for everyone. On average, healthy weight loss includes no more than 1-2 lbs loss per week (through regular physical activity and healthy eating). Contact the Hill Family Health Center today to meet with a Wellness Coordinator/RDN to determine the best course of action for you. BLOOD PRESSURE	When left untreated, high blood pressure can lead to serious health complications including stroke, heart attack and kidney damage.	The good news is that a combination of lifestyle changes and possible medications can help keep blood pressure managed. Lifestyle changes include improving dietary choices like sodium reductions, increasing aerobic activity to at least 30 minutes per day and limiting or avoiding alcohol and tobacco products. Total Cholesterol, HDL, LDL, Triglycerides	Cholesterol is made in your liver and has many important functions like hormone production and cellular maintenance. However, too much cholesterol or cholesterol of the wrong type can create health issues.	Follow these tips to help increase your HDL cholesterol and decrease your LDL cholesterol: improve nutrition choices by including heart healthy fats (avocado, fatty fish, nuts, olive oil) and reducing saturated fats (fried foods, full-fat dairy products, red meats). You should also increase aerobic exercise and avoid tobacco products.	Wellness/RDN Coaching, Virtual Fitness Classes, Wellness Online, On-Demand Fitness Classes, Weight Management Program
A1C	An A1C test provides an average of your blood sugar readings for the past three months which provides a good idea of how effective your blood sugar control has been over time. Results of an A1C test can be used to screen for prediabetes and diabetes.	To help keep your blood sugar at a healthy level, you should take the following into consideration: pair your carbohydrate snack with a protein (i.e. fruit with nuts or cheese with crackers), avoid skipping meals, drink plenty of water, limit sugary drinks and make half your plate non-starchy vegetables (leafy green vegetables, tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, broccoli, etc.). Regular physical activities as well as moderating the amount of alcohol consumed are other factors that will help keep your blood sugar in check. Tobacco Use	The use of nicotine can be harmful to your health. Tobacco use in any form has been shown to impact vitamin and mineral absorption, blood pressure, cholesterol and increase risk for diabetes. In addition, tobacco use increases your chance of heart disease, stroke and cancer.	There are different ways to approach cessation – “cold turkey” and NRTs (nicotine replacement therapy) that include prescription medication, nicotine patches, nicotine gum and nicotine lozenges. Contact the Hill Family Health Center today to meet with a Wellness Coordinator to determine the best course of action for you.	Freedom From Smoking Tobacco Cessation Program, Wellness Coaching
